GREETINGS FROM FR. BILL

Hey there, Catholic liturgical geeks! Did you notice something a little different at Mass this past week? The glass ciborium in the tabernacle has been replaced with the metal ciborium pictured below. I wanted to share why this change has taken place and explain the reasons behind the decision a bit.

To start, many of you – especially those who weren't part of the parish when the new (current) church was built in 2000-2001 – might not know why we had a glass ciborium in the first place. It just so happens that our church's architect, Dave Richen, was also one of my instructors at Mount Angel Abbey when I was a seminarian in the 90's. He taught a fantastic, eye-opening class on art and architecture in the Church and shared many of his beautiful and innovative ideas, several of which he would use a few years later when designing the "new" Holy Trinity Church.

One such idea was the use of a glass ciborium in a tabernacle that had an inner glass door that locked/unlocked separately from the tabernacle's outer doors. This would allow the people, if they desired, to open the tabernacle's outer doors and see the Blessed Sacrament in the ciborium – secured behind the interior glass door – as they prayed. It was a very creative solution.

In Catholic churches throughout the country, glass or crystal chalices were frequently used for decades. Similar to Richen's idea with the glass ciborium, the advantage was that the community could see the wine being poured, and, if it was red wine, it would be a more profound visual symbol of the Blood of Christ.

I used them for many years when I was the pastor at St. Anthony in Forest Grove. During my time there, several chalices were broken in the simple process of cleaning and storing them. In short order, we ended up using a mish-mash of different chalices.

In 2003, the Church promulgated a new edition of the General Instructions to the Roman Missal (a.k.a., the GIRM, pronounced like "germ"). This is basically the "how-to" for Mass. In the section on "Sacred Vessels," it specifies what material should be used:

"Sacred vessels should be made from precious metal. . . [or] from other solid materials which in the common estimation in each region are considered precious or noble. . . provided that such materials are suitable for sacred use. In this case, preference is always to be given to materials that do not easily break or deteriorate" (GIRM, 328-329).

It was thus determined by then-Archbishop Vlazny that all glass chalices and ciboria should be phased out. Over the years, the GIRM and Archdiocesan guidelines have offered other adaptations/corrections to previous local traditions. You'll find throughout the Archdiocese that some changes were immediately implemented and some are still being phased in. To that effect, some time ago I had mentioned in passing at a daily Mass that we would move away from our own use of glass vessels when the timing was right and the funds were available.

Many of you may be asking, "If it ain't broke, why fix it?" That's a fair question, and we're definitely fortunate that it wasn't broken in the past 22 years! Quite simply (and independent of my earlier comments), in late January we received a donation that the donor specifically wanted used to purchase liturgical items. The timing was right and the funds were available, so we ordered the new ciborium which arrived (finally!) last Wednesday.

So, there you have it! I'm happy to dive deeper on this topic with you, whether or not you're a Catholic liturgical geek (like me!) or answer any other questions you may have. I pray that the celebration of Mass brings you hope and joy as you hear the Word proclaimed and the Eucharist broken and distributed this weekend – especially for the nearly 100 children celebrating their First Holy Communion!

Blessings to Aaron Kho, Bella Salazar, and Varrick Soran, who were baptized this weekend!

BRETT'S TWO CENTS

Hello, everyone. Congratulations to all of our First Communion kids and their families – we're all so excited for you! May you learn to discern the Lord's Presence in the Eucharist, to rely on His strength, and to be deepened in His love. I can assure you: if you put your hand in the Lord's and trust Him, you will go places you never imagined. What an adventure the life of faith is!

Last weekend, we conducted the in-pew solicitation for the annual Archbishop's Catholic Appeal (ACA). We don't have any preliminary totals yet, but I can tell you the number of envelopes that went out was impressive – much more than we expected. Thanks to all of you who have already donated, either at church, online, or through the mail. If you've not yet donated, please do so. As we always say, how much you donate is not as important as the fact that you do donate. We have extra envelopes available in the narthex, or you can donate online at bit.ly/ACA-23. However you donate, please be sure to indicate that you belong to Holy Trinity Church in BEAVERTON so that our parish is credited (there are actually three "Holy Trinity" parishes in the Archdiocese: one is in Bandon and the other is a mission in Brownsville).

This coming Saturday, May 13th, is our biggest social event of the year: the International Festival! If you've not been before, you owe it to yourself to come and see. Things kick off with a multilingual rosary in the church at 5:00pm, followed by Mass at 5:30pm and all kinds of food and fun downstairs in the cafeteria and on the playground afterwards. If you can, come dressed in clothes typical of your ethnic or cultural tradition. Seeing so many different styles and colors is one of the highlights of the evening!

Finally, an announcement: with Nick's departure (sniff, sniff...) from the Parish staff last weekend, I will be moving back into the Pastoral Associate position where I can help Fr. Bill to ensure our liturgies, sacramental celebrations, and pastoral care remain strong and true to what's made Holy Trinity so successful. That means we'll be looking for a new Business Manager for the Parish and School!

If you or someone you know:

- ✧ has a passion for the Church;
- ✧ has a servant's heart;
- ✧ is familiar with basic business, accounting, and organizational practices;
- ✧ has basic skills with electronic technology, Microsoft Office, and QuickBooks;
- ✧ can manage a budget and maintain records;
- ✧ enjoys project management and facility maintenance;
- ✧ can work as part of a team;
- ✧ and can effectively supervise employees and volunteers,

we would love to talk with you! Please submit a cover letter and resumé via email to parish@h-t.org, with "Business Manager" in the subject line. If you have questions, feel free to reach out directly to me (brett@h-t.org or 503.643.9528). Thanks!

FOR WHAT IT'S WORTH: THOUGHTS ON FAITH

Erin Nieves – erin@h-t.org

It's First Communion Weekend! What a great time to be reminded of our own special day when we received Jesus for the first time in the Eucharist. Do you remember that day? I "made" my First Communion on a rainy Sunday in May at Our Lady of Mercy Parish in Port Chester, New York. The parish has since been combined with another parish and been renamed, but the memory of that first time is still intact and it's a foundation that I continue to build on today.

I was so excited to receive Jesus that I made a calendar that I put on the refrigerator, recording every time I was able to receive. I soon filled up the calendar and abandoned that impractical recording method, but I continued receiving Holy Communion, the body, blood, soul, and divinity of our sweet savior, Jesus. Throughout the years I have received too many times to count. Most memorable: my confirmation day, my baccalaureate Mass for High School and College, my wedding, my parents' 50th Anniversary Mass, my oblation to St. Benedict, at the Notre Dame in Paris, and at the funerals of Mark's parents and my own. The memory of each of these leads me to a memory of yet another. I have done nothing to earn or to deserve this and can only say thank you to God for all I have been given!

Jesus has been with me at the most important moments of my life, even those I don't remember. So, my question to you is this: what Communion is it for you? If it's too many to remember, conjure up instead the important ones, and savor them again. As we remember, let's continue to receive this precious gift with gratitude. We can go to Mass every day and receive. May we never take for granted the Jesus we receive in this most holy sacrament. May the little ones who receive this weekend be blessed and remind us of our own special day. As we pray for them, pray also for ourselves. For Word and Sustenance, thanks be to God! +

On a separate note, I will soon be traveling to Italy with my sister and niece, specifically to Florence and Rome! I will be gone May 12-27. I would be grateful for your prayers as we travel, and I will pray for you at all the holy places we see. Addio e Dio vi benedica (Farewell and God bless you)!

Reflections for Easter 2023 from Maryknoll Fathers & Brothers
(full reflections available at h-t.org/easter)

The Fifth Sunday of Easter:
From Anxiety to Trusting the Way

REFLECT: Recent events have heightened anxiety around the world and reminded us how debilitating fear can be. Even in the midst of the joyful event of the resurrection, Thomas and Phillip are still grappling with the anxiety, trauma and the new identity of the resurrected Jesus. They want to follow the Way but are filled with questions. Jesus reassures them, “I am the way and the truth and the life.”

As missionary disciples, we raise the same questions and Jesus gives the same response: trust in God, trust in the Way. How we as a community process our anxiety through that trust in God becomes the amazing gift of transformation we offer the world.

ASK & RESPOND: How is the Spirit inviting you to learn from the global community about ways of dealing with anxiety? Talk to someone from a community or group you seldom interact with about how they deal with anxiety, and try to practice one thing you learned from them this week.

PRAY: Let your mercy be on us, Lord, as we learn from you and others how to navigate the Way.

GREETER MINISTRY

Jim Huntzicker – 503.536.5068 – huntzicj@ohsu.edu

If you are a friendly person with a big smile, you’d make an excellent Greeter! All that is required is a cheerful disposition and a willingness to greet every few weekends. We are in need of more greeters at all four of our Masses, but especially at 11:15am. Greeters welcome people as they arrive, wish them well as they depart, answer questions from Mass-goers as they arise, and provide assistance in various ways during Mass. Minors can greet alongside their parent(s), too! To learn more and sign-up, contact Jim Huntzicker.

I am pleased to announce that we have found my successor as Food Closet Coordinator: fellow parishioner Charlie Knapp, who will officially take the reins on July 1st.

Charlie (a.k.a., Duke) was part of our RCIA class in 2022. He began volunteering at the pantry a year ago on Thursdays unloading the OFB truck, and has since been a huge help in the everyday operations and set-up. His passion for service and helping others is a blessing to the Food Closet!

Originally from Wisconsin, he has a degree in Social Work from UW Milwaukee. Charlie is a 30-year combat veteran, and his last tour was in Afghanistan before he retired from the military. As you can imagine, he has moved multiple times and most recently lived in Washington, D.C. and Georgia.

Charlie has been married to his wife Sandy for the past 23 years. They have a beautiful daughter, Maddie, who is a junior at the University of Oregon.

Please help make him feel welcome in the new position! He is very outgoing and friendly, so feel free to introduce yourself and say hello.
